THATCHER

(By Our Special Correspondent.)

Winnie Moody and family back to Thatcher to reside.

H. N. Chlarson has been very ill with la grippe, but is getting out again.

Miss Viola Freeland went to Globe Saturday evening, returning Monday morning.

The baby boy of George Williams is reported seriously ill with measles and pneumonia.

David Phillips left on Monday for his mission to South Africa, going by way of Salt Lake City.

J. L. Wilkins has purchased the Perkins' block, which joins the new Academy block on the west.

A nine-pound baby boy came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Raybourn on Monday. Mother and child are doing well.

Mrs. Ella Blake, of Globe, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Eva Lines, of Pima, spent Tuesday visiting with relatives in Thatcher.

Tom Moody, of Duncan, has been visiting in Thatcher for a few days. He has taken up a farm near Fort Thomas, and expects to move his family back to Thatcher in the near future.

The stake presidency of the Y. L. M. I. A., viz: Mrs. Laura Nuttal, Lucinda Gustafson and Sarah Webb, were visitors at the Thatcher M. I. A. Sunday evening. They were accompanied by Miss Etholin Cluff and Roy Selene.

The seventh grade of the district school gave their teacher, Miss Lane, a surprise party on Tuesday evening. They secured the help of the other teachers, who took her to the school house on some pretext, about eight o'clock, to find the children gathered there. Some pleasant games were indulged in for an hour, after which ice cream and cake were served by the girls of the grade. Miss Lane was much surprised and pleased.

A class of the Alumni girls of the Academy who have retained their organization for a number of years, were entertained at the home of Mrs. Louise Huntzinger on Wednesday afternoon. All enjoyed some well planned games for a time, after which dainty refreshments were served. Those present were: Class President, Vina Lee; Class Secretary, Mrs. Virgie Lee; Etta Lee, Louise Huntzinger and Caroline Montierth.

The married people's dance given by the Relief Society on Friday evening was a grand social success. About nine o'clock nearly fifty couples went on for the grand march. The dancing was interspersed by the following program: Recitation by Mrs. Eleanor Peterson, song and encore by Daniel Kemp, recitation by Mrs. Josephine Kimball. No young people were present, and a merrier time has not been enjoyed this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Skaggs had the misfortune to lose their ten-year-old son by measles on Saturday evening. He had been a very frail child all his life, and the measles proved to be more than he could stand. The funeral services were held at the home on Monday afternoon at two o'clock and the house was well filled with relatives and friends. Bishop Frank Tyler conducted the services, and a number of consoling talks were made. Miss Hadsell's school, of which he was a member, sent a great quantity of white flowers, and his coffin was fairly covered with them. The remains were interred in the Thatcher cemetery.

A pleasant birthday party was given to Mrs. J. D. Lee at her home, Monday evening. Misses Vina and Etta conducted some interesting new games, after which dainty refreshments were served. Miss Edna and Iven Gardiner gave some nice musical numbers on the piano and violin. About fifteen guests were present, and all were delighted with the splendid entertainment of the evening.

When the Academy teachers arrived at their post of duty on the first of April, they found the building deserted. After waiting some time, thinking the students would appear, they learned that they had decided to fool the teachers by taking a holiday. The boys and girls took sides against each other in the pranks, and in the afternoon they all went to Pima, where a baseball game was played between the Academy and the Pima nine, the Academy boys winning the game. The girls played a number of good jokes on the boys during the day, and the boys retaliated, and so the day turned out to be one of unusual merriment.

The Young Men's and Young Ladies' conjoint meeting was held in the Academy chapel on Thursday evening, with a large crowd in attendance. The following program was rendered:

Opening Exercises.
Vocal Solo, by Mrs. E. M. W. Jones.
Missionary Talk, by J. H. Larson.
Vocal Duet, by Misses Phillips.
Current Events, by Evans Coleman.
Quartet, by Frank Skinner, John Morris, J. H. Larson and Fred Skinner.
Recitation, by Caroline Montierth.
Vocal Duet, by Alice Sabia and Miss Thompson.

Rev. D. Carl Williams, pastor of the Globe Baptist Church, occupied the pulpit of the Safford Baptist Church Tuesday evening.

IRISHMEN IN MEXICO

Senor Gonzales, acting Mexican consul in Kansas City, had occasion the other day to refer to the fact that of all the nationalities represented among the emigrants to Mexico and South America the Irish was most welcome. The senor could not quite understand this racial affinity, but he explained that there is a "natural sympathy between Mexicans, South Americans and the Irish which keeps them in harmony, and the pretty Mexican girl of fortune and blue blood is always willing to mate with an eligible Irishman, although she shies at Americans and Englishmen." The acting consul further observes: "In Mexico City we have such names as Don Ignacio O'Brien, Ernesto Murphy and Miguel McCarthy."

Really there is nothing strange about the standing of the Irish in Mexico. The Irish are a remarkable people, in the fact that they are the best "mixers" in the world. The Irish temperament has been the leaven that has worked in the conglomerate mass of our own immigration and has stamped itself ineffaceably upon the composite American character. While America owes much of its scholarship and its sturdy thrift to the Germans, its conservatism and culture to the English and other estimable qualities to the Swedes, Scots, etc., there is yet an indefinite but substantial obligation to the Irish. We believe we are a nation of keen-witted people who are quick to see and appreciate the fun of things. Where do we get that trait? From the Irish. Most of us are happy-go-lucky individuals with an energy for making money second only to our energy for spending it as fast as it can go through our fingers. The Scotch shrewdness has made us a nation of traders, but the disposition to "mix," to "jolly" and if necessary to fight for trade comes from our seasoning of Irish blood.

It is not difficult to account for such names as Don Ignacio O'Brien, Ernesto Murphy and Miguel McCarthy in the languorous Southlands. Who can make love better than an Irishman, and who feels less the restrictions of nationality or race? Who is more cheerful or entertaining? An Irishman in any part of the globe radiates sunshine and is more welcome than a dozen gloomy and phlegmatic immigrants from the Continent. Of course, he is welcome in Mexico, as elsewhere.
